

The MJ Group Case Study

Buro Four

Offices

"We worked with The MJ Group on the branding of our new offices - 21,000 sq ft in Central London. The best introduction to a graphics and print supplier that we have ever received! The level of trust that we were able to attribute to them often only comes from a supplier you have worked with for many years.

Moving offices was a crucial and stressful time for us and MJ were able to rest our minds assured that no job was too big for them. The MJ Group are more than purely production - they have the ability to challenge and enhance your ideas, provide creative suggestions and solutions just when you need them and incorporate the latest technology and products. Their ability to work to high standards of production and tight deadlines, whilst maintaining a calm and personable approach is truly admirable. We could not recommend them enough and continue to use them for creative corporate solutions."
